DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

- Figures 1 and 2 deal with an electrical component system having a connector assembly.
- Figures 3-6 deal with an electrical component system having an open rail system connector assembly.
- Figure 7 deals with an electrical component system having a connector assembly with capacitors.
- Figures 8 and 9 deal with an electrical component system having a sequential connection connector assembly.
- A species dealing with an electrical component system having tertiary power conductors is not shown.
- A species dealing with an electrical component system having the use of cable is not shown.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, none of the claims is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

2. Applicant's election with traverse of claims 1-12 and 15-73 in the reply filed on February 24, 2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the present invention relates to an electrical component that is transitionable between a fully operating position at which the electrical component receives main power, a service position at which the electrical component receives secondary power, and a network communications position at which the electrical component only receives data signals. Although transition of the electrical component between these various positions can be accomplished via a connector, other methodologies of accomplishing this task are also envisaged, such as the use of a cable for instance. This is not found persuasive because the connector assembly for providing secondary power has different species such as a connector with an open rail system, a connector with capacitors, a connector with sequential connection, and a connector with tertiary power conductors.

Art Unit: 2839

Also a cable, which is a distinct species, can be used to provide secondary power instead of the connector assembly. Thus, the electrical component system of the present invention has distinct species of connector assembly and a cable for providing secondary power.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
4. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
